Luncheon Meeting Of Delta Kappa Gamma Held
At Enterprise Country Club

Psi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held luncheon meeting at Enterprise Country Club Saturday at 12:30 p.m.

The luncheon was served buffet style, and the club members were seated at long tables arranged in T shape and covered with white linen cloths.

Mrs. Syle Taylor, chapter president, presided. Invocation was by Mrs. Doris Pinckard. Officers and standing committees made reports. Mrs. Sara Sharpless read the minutes for the February meeting.

Mrs. Taylor gave a report on the district meeting which was held in Ozark late in February. She also announced plans for the workshop to be held at Alabama University in June, and stated that Psi Chapter had been asked to provide decorations for the workshop, which the members present voted unanimously to do.

Program chairman, Mrs. Roberta Tomberlin, presented Mrs. Jean Farris, who read an interesting paper on "The Heritage of American Women".

Members present were: Mrs. Sara Tillman, Mrs. May Bryan, Mrs. Ola Kendrick, Mrs. Doris Pinckard, Mrs. Addie Prescott, Mrs. Althea Prescott, Mrs. Sara Sharpless, Mrs. Syle Taylor, Mrs. Annabelle Wilkes, Mrs. Jessie Whitman, Mrs. Jean Johnson.

To Bookmobile

Miss Mabel Brunson and Mrs. Fox Brunson entertained the Elba Study Club Wednesday afternoon at Miss Brunson's home. A pretty arrangement of camellias, placed on the buffet, and a bouquet of gladioli were used as decoration. The refreshment table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth and held trays of delicious party dainties.

Miss Brunson presided during a business session. The club voted to contribute $10.00 to the bookmobile.

The program consisted of a paper on "Gardens of the Bible" by Miss Zedie Tomberlin, president; Mrs. Myra Snellgrove, first vice president; Miss Mollie Bell Sawyer, second vice president; Mrs. Kathryn Reeder, recording secretary; Mrs. Sara Tillman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. May Bryan, treasurer; and Miss Eudora Farris, historian.

The nominees were unanimously elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Marler and Marty, of Greenville, Florida, visited their parents, Mrs. Maude Marler and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pearce, last week.

It's Your Welfare

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT THE PENSIONS AND SECURITY DEPARTMENT.

Send your questions to Mrs. Jean Spencer, 315 Administrative Building, Montgomery, Alabama; find the answers in this column.

If my husband gets disability payments under Social Security, can he get extra benefits for medicine and doctor bills?

Neither Social Security nor the Department of Pensions and Security can pay for medicine and doctor bills of disabled person. If your husband receives disability payments under Social Security, he may also qualify for aid to the permanently and totally disabled through the Department of Pensions and Security if his Social Security benefits and any other income he has are too low to meet his needs by agency standards and he meets the other requirements.

My husband just started to draw Social Security last month. He is 62 and gets $57.60. I will be 65 in December. Can I get on old age pension?

Any one 65 or over may apply for an old age pension. Your husband cannot get a pension before he is 65, but you should be able to get a Social Security benefit on his account.

I get retirement from the company I worked for and Social Security. Can I get on old age pension, too?

It would depend on whether your needs are met, under agency rules, with these two checks, and you are otherwise eligible. It is doubtful if you would qualify unless you have some special problems such as need for nursing home care.

I get 100 percent Social Security and a pension from U.S. Steel, and have no other income or resources. Can I get on old age pension?

You must be 65 to get an old age pension. If, together, your Social Security and U.S. Steel pension do not meet your needs, and you are otherwise eligible, you can apply for aid to the permanently and totally disabled through the Department of Pensions and Security.

Can my mother-in-law get a pension when she lives at home (she thinks worth $4,500) and gets $36 a month Social Security?

A person can own a home, if he is living in it, with a net value (assessed value less legal debts) up to $2,500 and still get an old age pension. Your mother-in-law should talk to the county department about it.

Does Vocational Rehabilitation Service send a disabled person away from home to train for work?

Acceptance of referral to Vocational Rehabilitation Service is normally a condition of eligibility for aid to the permanently and totally disabled, aid to blind, or aid to dependent children through the Department of Pensions and Security if it appears that the applicant or recipient can benefit from such training. Training may be provided in another locality.

Greasy frying pans and broiler pans are easier to clean if one teaspoon of baking soda is added to the water in which the pans are to soak. Bring to a boil. Now wash in hot, soapy water, rinse and then dry.

For a different dish, cook a raw onion in the same pot with plain boiled potatoes.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elder, of Atlanta, announced the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Ann Maria, on March 31 at South Fulton Hospital. Mrs. Elder is the former Miss Ann Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Payne.

Mrs. Glennie Smith has sufficiently recovered from a recent illness to leave Elba General Hospital, where she was treated for several days. She is convalescing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Gutter, in New Brockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calhoun recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hamm in Aiken, S. C. Mrs. Fitzhugh Calhoun accompanied them to Aiken and remained for a week's visit with her daughter and family. Mrs. Hamm is the former Miss Helen Calhoun.

Miss Henriette Taylor has returned to Bradenton, Florida, where she is college instructor, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Taylor.

Larkins Own Prized
Santa Gertrudis Cattle

CARLTON LARKINS RAISES SANTA GERTRUDIS CATTLE - After retiring from the Navy, Mr. and Mrs. Larkins started cattle raising. They became interested in the Santa Gertrudis breeding stock and at the present own a nice size herd of the special cattle.

Santa Gertrudis Cattle
Outgrow-Outweigh
Other Breeds

Carlton Larkins became interested in the Santa Gertrudis breed of cattle during his first visit to the King Ranch early in 1950. At that time the ranch had five Santa Gertrudis steers on feed. The steers were about 5-years old and were the last of a lot of 30 with which they were experimenting. On his next visit to the ranch in 1951 he inquired about the five steers and was given a copy of a report. The steers were slaughtered at the age of five years and they averaged over 2,700 pounds each. The yield was 72%, which Mr. Larkins stated is a "far-away" dream of cattlemen. He stated that 60% is considered excellent.

After his retirement from the Navy, he and Mrs. Larkins started cattle farming. He began to look for some Santa Gertrudis breeding stock. At that time the stock was scarce and expensive. In 1955 he purchased an orphan Santa Gertrudis bull calf and raised it on a Jersey cow. In 1960 he crossed this bull on white faced cows. The steer calves of the first complete calf crop averaged 622 pounds at weaning. The heifer calves averaged 595 pounds. These calves were weighed by members of the Extension Service and sold the same day. Larkins considered this an excellent result in as much as they had never weaned a calf and the average up to that time was just a little under 400 pounds.

In that calf crop the best calf was a steer from a small P. B. Herford cow and Santa Gertrudis bull. At 7 months and 19 days it weighed 680 pounds and topped the market at the sale that day. This calf was sold by T.C. Whitman and sold at the age of about 16 months and weighed over 1,400 pounds and again topped the market that day at a special fair calf sale.

Mr. Larkins stated that it was only fair to say, however, that he probably had some better pasture and did creep feed the steer calves, though not the heifers, and that it was reasonable to assume that the Santa Gertrudis bull raised his average weaning weight to at least 100 pounds per calf. "That's a lot of extra beef without increasing your brood cows", stated Larkins.

After the excellent results of cross breeding, the Larkins decided that there were, or at least would be, a need for a small purebred herd of Santa Gertrudis cattle in this area. They have tried to get top quality in all purchases, and for that reason the herd has increased very slowly. They have two cows that were bred in Texas, three from Malachi Ranch in Georgia, six females from O.W. Scott at Duck Hill, Mississippi. Larkins reported to this newspaper that one of Mr. Scott's bulls gained 4.48 pounds per day for a period of 240 days on an official performance test at Mississippi State this past year.

In all official performance tests where Santa Gertrudis bulls were on test they have consistently had high gain scores and in most cases topped all other breeds. Three pounds per day is not considered unusual for a Santa Gertrudis, according to Larkins, in fact, according to him, the Santa Gertrudis breeders are usually a little disappointed if their bulls don't gain 3-pounds per day and better.

Larkins plans to develop a herd of 50 P.B. cows of the very best quality and sell bulls to local cattlemen who are interested in raising this cattle.

The Santa Gertrudis breed, although more widely scattered now than a year ago, it is still hard to get top quality certified stock and Larkins stated that so far as he knew he had the only certified Santa Gertrudis cows in Coffee County, but that are a few certified bulls other than his.

According to Larkins, it is a lot of trouble and very expensive to get and maintain a certified herd. He stated that no Santa Gertrudis animal can be certified (registered) until it reaches the age of 18 months and then only after it is personally inspected by a member of the staff of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International.

The Santa Gertrudis breed was developed by King Ranch on the Rio Grande in Texas. The breed was evolved from a short-horn base through the infusion of Brahman blood. After ten years of experimental work an outstanding bull calf was produced in 1920. This calf was named Monkey, Larkins related that he has been told that this name was used because of the calf while running and playing. Monkey became the foundation sire of the breed and all Santa Gertrudis cattle are descended from him.

In 1940 thirty years after the first experiment was initiated by King Ranch, the Santa Gertrudis was officially recognized as a pure breed. It is the first American breed of beef cattle.

The breed has a distinctive red color, has good disposition, is exceptionally large, hardy and beefy. The mature bulls weigh from 1,800 pounds to 3,000 pounds. The mature cows weigh from 1,200 to 1,700 pounds. Some have reached a weight of 1,900 pounds.

The breed has proved its ability to thrive under a wide variety of range and climatic conditions. Larkins said, "In as much as cattle are sold by weight, and this is a breed that will produce big calves either cross bred or P.B., I believe the Santa Gertrudis has a good future in Alabama."

HERBERT B. RINGSORF, Second Lieutenant, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Ringsdorf of Elba, Alabama, has been awarded the silver wings of a United States Air Force pilot upon graduation from the newest jet trainers and flying training here.

Lieutenant Ringsdorf flew the newest jet trainers and received special academic and military training during the course. He is being assigned to MacDill AFB, Florida, to fly F-4C aircraft. The lieutenant received his commission in 1963 upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Texas. A graduate of Wesleyan Methodist Academy, Central, South Carolina, he attended Ashbury College, Winston, Kentucky, and the University of Alabama. He holds a B. S. degree in chemistry.

PAUL C. MADDOX, Army Sgt., 31, whose mother, Mrs. Nellie B. Maddox, lives on Route 1, Elba, Alabama, and other members of Battery A of the 517th Artillery's 4th Missile Battalion participated in an annual unit missile firing practice at the Pine firing range on the Atlantic side of the Panama Canal Zone March 13.

During the practice Sergeant Maddox's battery fired at drone aircraft and surface marine targets.

Maddox, a squad leader in the battery regularly stationed at Fort Davis, Canal Zone, entered the Army in September, 1954. He was last assigned at Fort Gordon, Georgia.

The sergeant attended Elba High School. His wife, Jimmie, is with him in the canal zone.

Household Hints

Next time you sweeten whipped cream, use one spoon of honey instead of sugar. The cream will taste delightful and it will keep its stiffness longer.

When making an omelet, beat the egg yolks and whites separately and mix them just before they are poured into the skillet. The air that is beaten into the mixture will give a light, high and puffy omelet.

A baby bottle makes a good container to mix and keep your French dressing. Since the ounces are marked on the bottle, the recipe can be followed easily.

plus the entire federal government who had been sent to Wisconsin especially to beat Wallace in defense of President Johnson. Bobby Kennedy and the "Civil Rights Bill" now before the Senate.

Governor Wallace's purpose was not to win the election but to prove to this nation that the so-called Civil Rights Bill and federal control is not popular in the North as well as in the South.

The effect of Governor Wallace's large vote is bound to have effect and will be felt within a few weeks if not immediately.

Governor Wallace said repeatedly that he would "shake the eye teeth of national leaders in both parties" if he attracted 25,000 votes. According to the tremendous vote he received he has shown every time in every head in Washington.

Governor Wallace was very successful in what he started out to do when he entered the primary in Wisconsin—that of alerting people to the dangers of ever growing powerful federal government.

CHICKEN HOUSE VS. LOG CABINS

If Governor George C. Wallace should ever be president (it does not look as impossible as it once did for a Southerner to be elected president) it will be the first time the president of these United States once lived in a chicken house. While in service, Governor and Mrs. Wallace lived in a chicken house that had been converted to a tiny, undesirable apartment for servicemen, but which they were glad to get in order for them to be together during those trying days when it was almost impossible to get living quarters near any of the army bases.

We have had presidents from log cabins and from mansions but a president from a chickenhouse will be something different. That chickenhouse residence may be moved to a national park as "the first home of the first president from the South."

ELBA GOES FORWARD

A lot of interesting things are happening in Elba all the time and come May two very important events are scheduled. The new Peoples Bank, recently chartered, expects to open May 1st. Work is progressing rapidly in the building formerly occupied by the Emergency Aid Insurance Co. This bank will add to the growth of Elba and area and a lot of interest has already been created in this bank. Another important event for Elba is the formal opening of the Elba Country Club, planned for the first Sunday afternoon in May.

Later in the year the new building for the Elba Exchange Bank will probably be completed. It will be located on the corner across from the postoffice. The postoffice is now located. Work has not begun on the building but the ground is ready and work is expected to begin soon.

Another very interesting bit of news is the new postoffice building that is to be built on the street leading to the bridge across Pea River. We are looking forward to the completion of all these projects this year.

TUESDAY VS. MACK

Just let Monday and Mack be fit to be tied. He can see that deadline of putting this newspaper in the mail starting us in the face and he gets panicky. He rushes us and tells us "Hurry, and get the paper finished."

But it don't make any difference anyway. If he after us about something else, if we can't find anything else to argue about we get up a battle about our money. I don't mind him telling me how I should spend his money, but I don't want him to tell me how to spend mine. I can hear him saying as to this "Isn't that just like a woman."

VOTING SOON

One month from now we will be going to the polls to vote for our choice for the various offices. Coffee County has a poll list of 9,813 qualified voters. Of that number, 5,340 are white voters and 503 are Negro. Coffee County dropped from 10,055 white and 603 Negro in 1962. In 1960 there were 10,333 white and 588 Negro.

PICTURES FROM EVERYWHERE

The Clipper this week has pictures taken just about a dozen people. We have some of the Clipper photographer, some by Chad Martin of the Covington Electric Co-op, some by the County Farm Agents, a couple by a school photographer and a Red Cross picture that I do not know who the camera man was.

All the pictures are appreciated. Some are good, some are not so good. Chad Martin and the County Agent furnished us with the pictures of the Fat Calf Show last week. We had asked the County Agent to get pictures for us since we could not take pictures that day ourselves. We appreciated Martin letting us see the pictures from those he took. Just about once every month we get mail with the electric power people when we get our electric bill, always thinking it is more than it should be, but when Chad comes along with his pictures we forget all about being mad with his company.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

TO MEET APRIL 17

More than 600 delegates are expected to attend a convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in Greenville, beginning April 17. Announcement of the convention was made this week by L. L. Harper, spokesman for the New Brockton congregation of Witnesses.

The gathering will be held at the National Guard Armory.

KINSTON CLINIC ANNOUNCED

The Public Health Doctor and Nurse will hold a pre-school clinic at Kinston School on April 15th, at nine o'clock.

All parents of children who will enter the first child and attend the clinic, grade at Kinston next year are urged to bring their child to attend the clinic.

JACKY HATAWAY won first place in the Light-weight Hereford Division. He also took 3rd place in that class.

HOW DEEP?—A depth of six to nine inches with this type plow isn't uncommon. Horace Sessions, right, tells County Agent Tom Casaday that he turns all his land that deep to get rid of weed and grass seed. Such plowing also puts the existing litter deep out of the way and helps hold moisture for plant growth.

LEON WEEKS of Kinston and J. M. Martin of Kinston Line and I attended a one-day dairy production testing meeting in Auburn late last week.

On the way home, Weeks mentioned that this was one meeting that he was glad to attend.

FOLKS in Elba working on the Coffee County 4-H Foundation Campaign with Chairman, Sam Sawyer, are: Fred Clark, Carlton Larkins, W. H. Taylor, Conway Lowery, and Jake Morrow.

Real progress is being made in this campaign which will be completed in Elba this week.

Thousands of dollars of seed will be planted in Coffee County in the next two weeks.

Buy good seed. Read the tag. You get what you pay for. Don't try to save money on something else.

Rollan and John Henry Day of the Fairview Community are using a chemical weed control on a small part of their corn this year.

I believe that they are using a broadcast treatment which means that after they plant it won't be necessary to cultivate.

Frank Britt in the Mt. Pleasant Community is using some of the same materials on about five acres.

We expect to watch these two demonstrations plus others in the county.

During the month of April, a lot of our lawns in Coffee County are infected with weeds. Weed seed gets blown in from surrounding areas and get washed in. It is often difficult to control weeds.

Most of us don't have time to go out and pull up each weed, but we can use a chemical.

One of the best treatments to use is as follows: Apply two tablespoons (one ounce) of 2,4-D amine in one to five gallons of water per 1,000 square feet of lawn area to be treated. Wrap shrubbery or other sensitive plants with paper to protect them from the herbicide.

We have reports showing that if Coffee County farmers could control stomach worms in their cattle that cows could be wintered on about 30 percent less feed.

We have a lot of cattle-men in the county who never worm. Folks dealing in animal health in Alabama say that we need to worm young cattle two to four times a year.

Stomach worms cause cattle to swell under the jaws, to look unthrifty, weak-eyed, and long-haired, and to have scouring. All of this causes the cattle to fall to gain.

Phenanthrene given according to directions on the containers will do an excellent job in controlling worms. You can get this from your seed and feed their cost of producing hogs.

TRAVELING ALABAMA

By Jim Hart

Azalea Trail Festival

As winter gasps a waning cold breath at most sections of Alabama, Mobile is ushering in Spring with its traditional Azalea Trail Festival. Coupled with this breath-taking display of beautiful flowers and mild temperatures will be the 1964 America's Junior Miss Pageant.

The Azalea Trail Festival will continue through March 31 and the Junior Miss Pageant will be held during March 18-21. For those wishing to start their Spring travels early I can think of no better place to visit than Mobile, especially during the month of March.

I have driven along the entire 35 miles of this gorgeous floral route and it is, without a doubt, the most famous floral spectacle of its kind. The Azalea Trail Festival originated in 1951 with a three-week program. Now this celebration extends over a period of two months - February and March. However, with the extended cold weather I'm sure you will find a visit during March to be most rewarding.

An unusual feature of the Mobile Azalea Trail is the attraction known as the "Night-Lighted Trail". This route is lighted each night during the peak of the azalea season through the cooperation of civically minded Mobileans.

Several public gardens are featured along the Trail and they include Clarke Gardens, Long's Azalea and Camellia Gardens and Bellingham Gardens, one of the most famous gardens in America.

This is one of the many places in Alabama that you can really get away from it all and enjoy luxurious living on a small budget. No where else do I know of can one find such a variety of things to do and such hospitable people as in Baldwin County.

For the fisherman you can't beat it. For swimming, sunbathing and skiing Gulf State Park is tops. Here is a 4,807 acre paradise that belongs to everyone in Alabama. Classes as one of the most outstanding reservations of its kind.

Guides for salt water fishing may be obtained nearby and for those who are successful and want to cook their catch at the Park you'll find a picnic area with pavilion, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

Those who avail themselves of the opportunity to revel in beauty, which only nature can provide, will find Gulf State Park a most delightful spot for rest and relaxation with everything kept up and sparsely trained Park personnel.

Plan a weekend trip to Alabama's southernmost tip. It's easy to get there. Follow Alabama 59 to a point 10 miles south of Foley then follow the directional arrows to the Park. I just know you'll enjoy it...my family did.

Bend Dedication

March 27 marked the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Horseshoe Bend on the Tallapoosa River and the dedication of a new Visitor's Center at the National Park located near Alexander City.

Many thousands of dollops have been spent at Horseshoe Bend National Park during the last two years to develop the spot into an exciting recreational and vacation wonderland. This is Alabama's first National Military Park and it was on the very same site that Andrew Jackson defeated Chief Menawa and his Upper Creek Indians on March 27, 1814.

The battle ended the reign of terror caused by the Creeks and also averted the massacre at Fort Mims (near Mobile). As a result of devastating defeat the 20 million acres of land now known as Alabama and Georgia were ceded to the white man.

Governor George Wallace and Congressman Albert Rains were principal speakers at the 2:00 p.m. dedication service. Others on the program were Park Superintendent Clarence L. Johnson; Robert Cox of the National Park Service; Thomas D. Russell, President of the Horseshoe Bend Battle Park Association; and Thomas W. Martin, Chairman of the Association's Board of Directors. The Maxwell Air Force Band provided music.

Not only is Horseshoe Bend National Park known for its historical significance but also for its beauty and convenience for camping.

4-H CLUB EVENTS

Goodman

The Goodman Elementary 4-H Club boys met on March 11. All officers, members, and a visitor, Clarence Strickland, State Coordinator, were present.

Two songs were led by the song leaders and an inspirational devotional was given by Charlie Wilson. The pledges to the 4-H Flag and the United States Flag were recited. Mr. Thompson, assistant county agent, read charge of the program, presenting a demonstration on "Home Gardening". He showed interesting and helpful slides on his chosen subject.

Mr. Strickland made some interesting comments concerning 4-H Club work and the Goodman Club. The meeting was adjourned until the scheduled meeting in April.

RICHMOND FLOWERS

Attorney Richmond Flowers is still trying to attract attention but still falls completely. He did manage to get on the front page of one of the state's biggest daily papers this week with his complaint that he is being elbowed out of the election fight. He blames Senator Lister Hill and Senator John Sparkman as the reason and that their reason is because he is considering running against Sparkman in 1966. Flowers is supporting the pledged electors. I don't guess Attorney General Flowers has thought about it but from all I can learn he is just about the most unpopular man in state government and the pledged electors.

BOB INMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. (Sonny) Inman has been awarded a $1,100.00 scholarship by the National Association of Broadcasters. This started his radio work at Elba's WELB in 1958, and before that had worked for three years at The Elba Clipper. He is presently a junior at the University of Alabama, studying radio and television.

The Harold Fellows Memorial scholarship, one of two awarded across the nation, was given to the 20 year old Inman based on grades, experience and recommendation. He was selected from 6,000 applicants and this is the first time a student from either the University of Alabama or from this state has ever received this scholarship.

Bobby, who has consistently been a Dean List student, is a member of Pi Kappa Phi, a social fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, radio and television honorary society, Duquesne, and Phi Eta Sigma. He is also a correspondent for United Press International in Tuscaloosa.

Wallace Continues To Fight

Governor George C. Wallace began his campaigning in Indiana's May 5 presidential preference primary this week. Governor Wallace began his Democratic primary bid on Wednesday with a news conference and an interview for later broadcast over Butler University's campus radio station.

Wallace is hoping to do even better than he did in last week's Wisconsin primary. As in Wisconsin, he will be campaigning against a Democratic governor running as a "favorite son" stand-in for President Johnson.

Alabama Congressmen on opposite sides of the civil rights bill controversy expect Governor Wallace to run stronger in the Indiana presidential primary than in Wisconsin. U. S. Rep. George Andrews, of Union Springs, said Monday in Washington, "I think Governor Wallace has a very good chance of carrying Indiana."

Governor Wallace, who polled 25% of the votes in the April 7 Wisconsin balloting, opposes Governor Matthews Welsh, a favorite son, in the May 5 Indiana Primary.

Members of two Tuscaloosa labor unions donated more than $1,500 to Wallace for use in his campaign against the pending civil rights bill. Governor Wallace is receiving financial support by mail from individuals as well as from groups in his fight against the expanding police power of the federal government.

Wallace Funds To Increase Coffee County Government Day To Be Observed Monday

In a project to raise funds for Governor George C. Wallace, the Montgomery-Alcalzar Temple is sponsoring a barbecue Saturday, April 25th. All proceeds from the sale of tickets will be given to Governor Wallace for his fight against a dictator form of government that is fast becoming a reality of the federal government unless checked.

The barbecue will be held at the Shrine's Temple near the Crampton Bowl in Montgomery from 1 o'clock until 6 o'clock. Tickets are now being sold and every cent collected from the sale of the tickets will be added to the Wallace Fund. All funds were donated by various organizations and businesses so that all ticket sales will be clear profit for the Wallace Fund.

200 tickets are to be sold in Elba and surrounding areas. Anyone interested in tickets should contact Sam Sawyer, or Paul Windham. The Clipper will be glad to secure the tickets for anyone who desires.

Governor Wallace will be present at the barbecue to be with those who attend and to personally express his appreciation for the excellent support he is receiving in this fight for state rights and individual rights. It is expected that many will attend the barbecue and personally support Governor Wallace for his campaigning in Indiana and Maryland in his fight against the concept of expanding police power of the federal government. It will be an excellent opportunity for individuals to personally give Governor Wallace a contribution for the two presidential primaries in Indiana and Maryland.

Governor Wallace polled better in the quarter million votes in Wisconsin last week and it is being predicted that he will do even better in the Indiana presidential primary with some predictions that there is a possibility that he may carry the state.

If voters will take advantage of the "get acquainted" with the operation of the machines, it will speed up casting a ballot on election day.

Someone will be at each place to explain the working of the machines and as to how voters may cast their ballot for their favorite candidates.

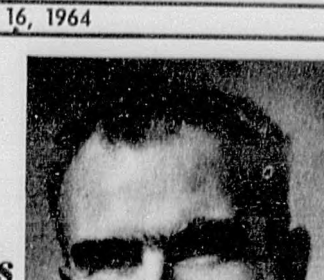

Members of the Alabama Education Association of District III held its annual Spring Drive-In Conference Wednesday, April 8, at Troy State College, Troy, Alabama.

Preliminary plans for the coming year were made on more interesting professional activities and worthwhile projects for strengthening the programs of the local Teachers' Association.

The Agenda included: registration from 2 until 3 o'clock in the afternoon; general assembly, from 3 until 3:45 p.m.; meeting by positions, 4 until 5:45 p.m.; the dinner meeting at which time Mrs. Annie Mae Turner of Union Springs, Alabama, President of the A.E.A., was the speaker from 6 until 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Members of the Elba Teachers' Association attending were: Mr. Elmer Taylor, President; Mr. Charles Jacobs, Mrs. Helen Rainer and Mrs. Ruth Hagan.

Nine-tenths of the deaths from home fires occur between the hours of 8 p.m. and 8 a.m.

DOCTOR J. R. WHITE

Doctor White To Conduct Revival

The Elba First Baptist Church welcomes Doctor J. R. White as guest evangelist this Monday evening, April 20. Doctor White is pastor of the First Baptist Church, Montgomery. His former pastorates include the First Baptist Church, DeFuniak Springs, Florida; First Baptist Church, Ft. Pierce, Florida; and Main Street Baptist Church, Jacksonville, Florida.

Doctor White is a native of Morgantown, Kentucky. He is married to the former Miss Nell Drake, of Lexington, Kentucky. They have three children: Margaret Ann, James Robert, III, and Beverly Jeanne.

Doctor White will be leading the revival services at the Elba First Baptist Church Monday through Friday evening at 7:30, and Tuesday through Saturday morning at 7:00. He will also be preaching in the closing services of the revival meeting at 10:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. next Sunday, April 26.

The public is cordially invited to attend these special services.

Voters Urged To Practice Voting

Voters are again being invited to practice voting on the voting machines stationed in the Elba and Enterprise courthouses and in New Brockton prior to the election May 5th.

If voters will take advantage of the "get acquainted" with the operation of the machines, it will speed up casting a ballot on election day.

Someone will be at each place to explain the working of the machines and as to how voters may cast their ballot for their favorite candidates.

VAULT FOR NEW PEOPLES BANK BEING UNLOADED - The big vault for the Peoples Bank is being unloaded at the site of Elba's newest business. Of special notice is the vault which is being unloaded from a Dorsey Trailer, by a Windham Power Lift, both manufactured here in Elba. In the background is a view of one small portion of the building where the new bank will be located.
